FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

New York, Oct. 17.—The Pee's Washing-ton correspondent states that Gen. Meade was three weeks ago ordered to fall back upon Centreville. Lee, discovering the retreat of our army, tried to take advantage of it. He falled in that purpose. The army of the Po-tomac is now in an impregnable position. It stands on the determive ready to strike a blow at the enemy, and its present position is wat-te safer for offensive operations than that held at the enemy, and its present position is vastive ster for offensive operations than that held by it one week ago. It was stroot impossible to protect innety miles of raffroad across a hilly and woody part of Virginia. Les is quite strong in numbers, stronger than he was two months ago. He has not only been reinforced by conscripts, but by troops gathered from the vicinity of Richmond.

The Heroid's robel correspondent in Baltimore deciares that Les is very weak, but it will be remembered he announced Lee was about to invade Maryland with a transmoons force a week or two before Bragg drove Roserrans back to Chattascogs.

The defeedant, Rodenyer, in this suit, was Snerif Heasting is deputy, and the other defendants are Rodenyer's Bondman, and the action was brought for money which Heasting was obliged to pay, on account of an illeged negligence or mis fessance of the said Rodeneyer, in the discharge of his duties as deputy. Three executions, all summing against Schoole's & Co. amounting in all to fire hundred and seventy dollars, wase placed for sevice in the hunds of Rodeneyer. Schoole's & Co. proposed to pay the executions, and gave the officer the check of Isandrath & Co. on Hoffman & Gelpeke, who seephed, it and gave Bedieneyer, basend of the cash, a certificate of deposit for that amount of carrency. This was in the Sussance of the cash, a certificate of deposit for that amount of carrency. This was in the Sussance of the cash, a certificate of deposit for that amount was equal to the first, one for each of the three executions, and the other for the costs. As the value of the currency vehicle for the costs are exceptions, and the other for the costs. As the value of the currency represented by these certificates was considerably below par, the freditions reluced to recours them, and they remained in the hands of Rodeneyer.
